Title: Lab Sharing with Multinode Cluster

Duration: 1 Month

Platform: Kubernetes- Kubeadm, Kubelet, Kubectl, Docker, Containerd, CIR-O.

Description: Lab sharing is the concept of sharing the same services to systems in the network through a container using docker kubernetes. In our project, We are using one cluster on which we are sharing python software handled by two master nodes because if one master node goes down then the whole system goes down so the connected system container will stop working We can use a second master node in parallel with the first master node which will also provide continuous service to the client machine without interruption.
